The Coronation Ball, to be held on Saturday, November 7, 2009, is undoubtedly the most prestigious and elegant event of the school year. As such, students are expected to wear formal attire to the event. We want all of our students who attend to have a good time. To insure this, we want to clarify the following:

The Coronation Ball, being held at John Burroughs High School, is a school function; therefore, school rules and regulations will be followed and enforced for the duration of the event. We will notify parents and suspend students for use or possession of alcohol or drugs before or during Coronation. The police will also be contacted. This is a very unpleasant situation for all concerned, and especially for the student. (In the event a Burroughs' student brings a guest from outside of the school, parents of the Burroughs' student will be called should a problem arise.) To preserve the integrity and formality of this dance, students with extremely low cut, provocative or inappropriate clothing will not be admitted.

School administration insists that all Coronation attendees and a parent/guardian read and sign this agreement. Tickets will not be sold to students unless this agreement is signed and turned in when purchasing tickets. All students must be clear of school and library indebts, as well as detention hours, in order to purchase tickets.

SECURITY: Pat downs and purse checks are permitted by the facility and will be randomly done by Coronation security staff. Items to be confiscated include but are not limited to the following: alcohol/flasks, all tobacco products, any illegal substances, canes & zoot chains, eye drops and/or medication (given to school official), gum, glow in the dark items, glue, lighters/matches, markers, mints, pens and pencils, sharp objects, water bottles, wallet chains, or weapons.

JBHS administration reserves the right to not admit or to dismiss attendees for violating school rules at their discretion.

Please help us make this Coronation a very special and memorable school event!
